

The Man in Lonely Land

Mr. Winthrop Laine threw his gloves on the table, his overcoat on a chair, put his hat on the desk, and then looked down at his shoes. Soaking wet, he said, as if to them. I swear this weather would ruin a Tapley temper! For two weeks rain and sleet and snow and steam heat to come home to. Hello, General! How are the legs tonight, old man? Stooping, he patted softly the big, beautiful collie which was trying to welcome him, and gently he lifted the dogs head and looked in the patient eyes.
